Orientation

College--The Best Time of Your Life

By: PAULINA HASTOROS

Last August, over 900 eager young freshman stepped onto the grounds of UMW with an array of emotions and expectations. Many wondered what college would bring: New friends, interesting classes, study abroad opportunities, toga parties...The list goes on. Despite the nervous persona of many freshmen entering a new environment, orientation provided students with fun and engaging opportunities to meet their fellow peers. The first week, all students met with their orientation groups, toured the campus, and participated in the orientation carnival. Students also became familiar with many community values, including the widely-respected Honor Code. The ice cream social hosted by President Judy Hample at Brompton remained a favorite among students. In addition, students participated in diversity training, a Glow-Zone Dance party, and students pledged to remain true to the honor code during the UMW Honor Convocation. Perhaps the wise quotes of the ancients say it all: "College is a fountain of knowledge and students are there to drink," "College is the best time of your life." All in all, college remains an exciting adventure incoming students happily plunge into.

Club Carnival

By: Anne Elder

Boasting over 100 student-led organizations, the OSACS-sponsored Club Carnival gives students new and old alike the chance to become more involved on campus. With opportunities ranging from dance and cultural clubs to volunteering to intramural sports, it seems there is something to fit the interests of all students. As part of NSO week, Club Carnival gives upperclassmen the chance to recruit and bond with both freshmen and fellow upperclassmen who may have missed their chance in previous years. Student leaders set up posters, trophies, and even performed demonstrations to bring in new members. The carnival is open to all clubs registered through OSACS. While students get the opportunity to find fun ways to fill their time, the carnival is also inevitably laden with free food, candy, and cups to entice students to sign up. Though many students only commit to a few clubs following the carnival, it is a well-known fact that no matter how many clubs you sign up for, the e-mails following Club Carnival will continue to arrive long past college days. The carnival always promises to be one of the most exciting NSO week events, bringing the UMW community together to show off skills and interests.

Chill by the Grill

By: Anne Elder and Katelynn Monti

What's a better way to ease the anxieties of the first day of class than to enjoy free food and engage in relaxing conversation? On August 24th, student leaders representing many of UMW's clubs came out to chat with fellow students and enjoy some free barbecue on Ball Circle. The event was planned as a way for new students to meet leadership and find interesting clubs, and while it was attended by more upperclassmen than freshmen, all attendees enjoyed getting to know their classmates and fellow leaders. The event was sponsored by SGA and OSACS as part of Connections Week, and provided an informal setting to connect the student body with the leaders of a wide range of clubs, giving them a chance to ask questions, discuss clubs, and enjoy a hamburger or two on a hot summer day.

Rocktoberfest

By: Kelsey Leonard

On October 2, this year's Rocktoberfest welcomed We the Kings to Ball Circle. The members of the up and coming band include Travis Clark, lead vocalist; Hunter Thomsen, lead guitarist; Drew Thomsen, bass; and Danny Duncan, drums. Travis Clark blew the audience away with his voice, with many students unable to keep their feet still as the lyrics hit them. Many students were up front dancing and singing along to the music. "Check Yes Juliet," one of their most popular songs, was played as well as many others.

Along with the band, Allman's Bar-B-Que provided free food for everyone to enjoy. Ball Circle was packed with students who came out to have fun with friends and enjoy the free concert and food. The annual event was co-hosted by Giant and Class Council. Rocktoberfest was a day to remember for UMW students thanks to We the Kings and hard work from Giant and Class Council officers.

Breast Cancer Awareness

Ha-Ha's for Ta-Ta's and "Dig Pink" Volleyball Game

By: Anne Elder

Started in 2008, this year's second annual "Haha's for Tata's" brought laughs to the Underground while fundraising for a worthy cause. Seniors Brian Keys and Katie Watson created this event to "bring the light of comedy and hope to breast cancer patients," Watson said. The event raised over $300 this year, which was matched by breast cancer survivors close to Katie Watson. The money raised was donated to the Breast Cancer Network of Strength.

The comedians who brought laughs to the stage were senior Katie O'Connor, non-student Anthony Coleman, senior Mike Issacson, junior Misak Artinian, senior Brian Keys, and sophomore Chris Velucci. Watson and Keys have passed the torch to Velucci for the coming years, "to carry on the tradition of UMW student comedy and awareness for a worthy cause," Watson said.

In addition to comical awareness at the Underground, the women's volleyball team supported breast cancer awareness at their "Dig Pink" match in October. This event is held annually at college and high school matches, raising funds as well as promoting breast health education. The UMW team hoped to raise $2000 during their match against North Carolina Wesleyan College. Spectators donated funds and wore pink as they cheered the girls on. At the end of the night, the girls raised over $1200 for the Dig Pink initiative.

Homecoming

Once an Eagle, Always an Eagle

By: Anne Elder & Michelle Esch

On the weekend of October 17, Homecoming fever hit the students of UMW. With alumni from multiple years visiting the campus for the annual Alumni Tent Party, the students took to the Battlegrounds to watch the sports teams face off against fierce rivals while encouraging them with "UMW EAGLES" spirit. OSACS sponsored a Homecoming Carnival held indoors this year due to a particularly rainy week, but this did not stop the spirit from coming out. Students raced each other through obstacle courses, bought t-shirts, received free personalized license plates, cups, and foam fingers, played carnival games, including the ever-favorite Twister, and ate scrumptious barbecue in front of the Great Hall. Rapper Talib Kweli held a fun-filled concert on Saturday night after the games. His personable and entertaining performance packed the seats of Dodd Auditorium, with the hit "Get 'Em High" getting the audience up and moving around. While the traditional fireworks were canceled due to the stormy weather, students didn't let the rain dampen their moods and continued with their festivities. The fireworks were rescheduled for a few days later.

Read My Lips

By: Paulina Kosturos

What could be better than watching your peers dress in wacky costumes, dance badly, and sing to their favorite songs on stage? Nothing compares! Originally scheduled for Homecoming week, the annual Lip Sync competition is a great UMW tradition. For this exciting event, participating students paid a ten dollar deposit and formed teams. Next, they created unique dance routines to their favorite songs while lip syncing in front of a large audience. The stakes remained high as talented acts competed for a cash prize. Competitors performed routines to songs ranging from "I'll Make a Man out of You" from Mulan, to "I'm on a Boat", from Saturday Night Live.

"I did it because it's really fun, and I like getting up in front of a huge group of people and doing ridiculous stuff to make them laugh," sophomore Mary Cait Nannery said.

Freshman Julia Pannewitz shared her enthusiasm.

"My floor in Custis did 'I'll Make a Man Out of You' from Mulan. It was great, considering we came up with the routine the night before. My favorite part was that we reversed the roles--a girl was Shang and a boy was Mulan."

One thing remains clear: Next year's Lip Sync will definitely bring more exciting routines and gut-busting entertainment to Dodd Auditorium.

Pumpkin Palooza

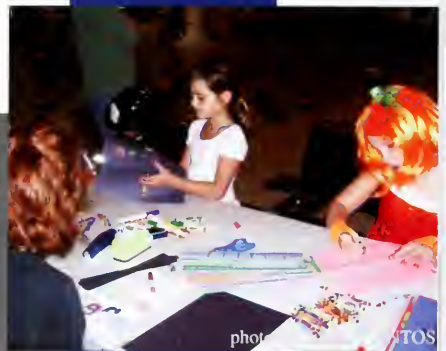

Trick or treat!

By: Katelynn Monti

Known in previous years as 'Haunted Helpers', this year's annual fall festival organized and run by COAR and its gracious volunteers was held on October 25th from 1-5 PM for children who live in the Fredericksburg area. This year the event was called 'Pumpkin Palooza'. Children came to campus dressed in their Halloween costumes and safely trick-or-treated around the different dorms at UMW that had been decorated by students in collaboration with the Association of Residence Halls. This year's award for the best decorated dorm went to Virginia Hall. Aside from getting lots of candy, there was also an abundance of crafts and games waiting for the trick-or-treaters in the Great Hall, each sponsored by a different club. Throughout the day around a hundred and seventy-five guests came, including the Vice President of Student Affairs Doug Searcy and his children. This event is one of the many ways COAR reaches out to the community, and surely one of the most loved event for children of all ages.

Double, double, toil & trouble

By: Anne Elder

Every Halloween, Class Council brings something frightful to the Great Hall and this year was no exception. Aiding their haunting was DJ Kyle Meagher from the band The Beetkeepers, as well as palm readings and tarot cards. Participants were encouraged to keep the Halloween tradition alive by arriving in costume, with prizes awarded for the most creative attire. Advertised as "the BEST HALLOWEEN PARTY ON CAMPUS," it left nothing for students to worry about, making sure to incorporate some free candy into the celebration. Class Council continues to spook students with their Halloween spirit and fun and games to entice even the most devilish creature of the night.

Mr. UMW

By: Paulina Kosturos

This year, eighteen sexy men representing every corner of the campus strutted their stuff in the annual Mr. UMW Pageant. Hosted by the Association of Residence Halls, the Mr. UMW Pageant contained a multitude of surprises, including dancing men, a Speedo-wearing saxophone player, and even a surprise appearance by last year's Mr. UMW, Anders Coe. Critiqued by a strict panel of judges, competitors put their abilities to the test. In desperate pursuit of the coveted Mr. UMW crown, contestants astounded the crowd with their raging style during the formal and sporting wear portions of the competition. In addition, contestants performed a riveting group dance to a variety of songs including "Single Ladies" and "Natural Woman", while wearing dresses and spandex. Competitors also got the chance to showcase a unique talent. After an intense elimination round, the judges chose Mr. Mason, Stuart Smith; Mr. Custis, Andrew Garofolo; and Mr. Bushnell, Chris Vellucci as the three finalists. As a part of the final round of judging, the three finalists answered a series of questions. After a very difficult decision, judges crowned Chris Vellucci the new Mr. UMW. Congratulations to all the competitors!

Midnight Breakfast

By: Anne Elder

At the end of every semester as students are cracking down on studying for finals, the crew from Dining Services rides up on their white horse with the one thing no poor college student can resist--free food.

Not only do students get the opportunity to jump in line for french toast sticks, scrambled eggs, and sausage, the event holds two raffles throughout the night. Winning a prize in a very crowded Seacobeck is often the most coveted event of the night.

While the prizes change each semester, they are usually most-wanted items, like Wii, RockBand, digital cameras, and iPods. There is a chance for 10 students to win, so many students linger after polishing the syrup off their plate to see if they will be the one to take home a prize.

If prizes and free food aren't enough, students can revel in the fact that the people serving them include Dean of Student Life Cedric Rucker, Director of Judicial Affairs and Community Responsibility Ray Tuttle, and Director of Student Activities Joe Mollo.

The administrators are met by student volunteers and employees, who all offer food with delight to their peers.

Midnight breakfast at Seacobeck wraps lines around the building longer than any other dining event. Students camp outside waiting to be allowed in the warm, inviting environment that calms them down in the middle of cramming for exams. After free food and coffee, the studying goes back into full throttle, leaving both minds and stomachs full for another semester.

Serving those in need

By: Anne Elder

While some students may sleep in on their day off in January, many students have started to see Martin Luther King Jr. Day as an opportunity to reach out to the campus as well as the Fredericksburg community through volunteer projects, performances, and speeches to mark the occasion. The activities, co-sponsored by OSACS and the James Farmer Multicultural Center, bring students together to embrace diversity and live up to the dream held by Dr. King. This year, the celebration entailed community service with COAR, with many sports teams and clubs participating in the service together. The week of celebration also included speeches in front of the James Farmer bust on Campus Walk and speaker events where all of the Fredericksburg community could gather and embrace diversity.

Senior Countdown

Remembering the Good Times

By: Paulina Kosturos

Last January, seniors gussied up, sporting formal dresses and suits, all in celebration of Senior Countdown. Hosted by Class Council, Senior Countdown marked one hundred days until graduation. Seniors participated in casino night, competing for over three thousand dollars in prizes and free trinkets. Senior Countdown enabled seniors to win awesome prizes, and share some final memories with friends and some wonderful faculty including Dean Rucker and Joe Mollo. The event remains the culmination of four years of hard work and dedication at UMW. Therefore, Senior Countdown not only marked the final days of college, it was a milestone of the obstacles overcome, exams passed, and long all-nighters completed. Overall, the night was filled with good friends, games, and memories frozen in time.

Drag Show

Where else are you going to find bearded ladies and Lady Gaga impersonators dancing to songs such as "Jizz in my Pants" or "Pop"? PRISM's Annual Drag Show, of course! This past year, PRISM hosted UMW's annual drag show, with the exciting "Under the Sea" theme. Hosted by Fritz Reuter, the show thrilled viewers with dazzling performances by the boy bands "Dictation" and "Penie". In addition, the drag show featured spectacular dance numbers by "Gady Lala", mermaid-clad men, and various others. Dean Rucker, Kevin McCluskey, Mara Scanlon, Gary Richards, and Danny Tweedy served as judges for the competition.

Freshman Jeanette Hodge, member of the group "Penie," recounts her experience on stage, "We loved being on stage and seeing how well the crowd responded to us. It was so much fun! Shanita started the choreography a couple days beforehand. Our wardrobe took a little bit more effort though. We borrowed stuff from our friends and dads, bought men's boxers and dougies (fitted hats) and just went over the top with a sharpie marker to make tattoos! We got really into it and had such a great time!"

While the performers took breaks, the audience remained eligible to participate in interactive games such as "keep your sea cucumber safe," and a drag walk-off. By the end of the performances, the judges tallied up the scores and dubbed "Dictation" as the winner of the competition. Overall, the night proved a great success!

New Orleans Relief

Bringing Hope and Support

By: Anne Elder

While most Mary Washington students spent spring break relaxing after a week of midterms, the brothers of Psi Upsilon fraternity traveled down to New Orleans along with members of the Disaster Relief Club to lend a hand to communities that were devastated by Hurricane Katrina. They spent their time in the Lower Ninth Ward, repairing houses and reaffirming their brother dedication to philanthropy. The Disaster Relief Club was founded to bring aid to areas affected by natural disasters, making New Orleans an obvious trip after the hurricane. During the week, the team was able to drywall houses and construct irrigation systems to control future rain conditions in the area. The Lower Ninth Ward saw the greatest devastation after Hurricane Katrina, drawing in volunteers from all over the country including the dedicated team from Mary Washington.

Baby it's Cold Outside

By: Anne Elder

On Friday, Feb. 5, the "snowpocalypse" of 2010 began, as classes were canceled and flurries tainted the blistering air. Students took advantage of the unexpected sequel to their Winter breaks, having snowball fights and sledding down Trench "Suicide" Hill.

Snow continued through the night of the 5th, burying Mary Washington under two feet of white powder. Residence Life recommended to stay indoors to avoid falling trees and slippery walkways. The record-breaking blizzard put a hamper on the administration for several days, causing classes to be canceled the following Monday, Feb. 8, with night classes on Tuesday, Feb. 9 canceled as well.

When the skies seemed clear and commuters thought it was safe to return to our beloved campus, another snow started, canceling classes on Wednesday, Feb. 10.

While the blizzard may have set professors back on their syllabi and students on their studies, the entire Mary Washington community will always remember the two weeks when finding cars took hours, driving was only possible with four-wheel drive, and snowmen and igloos were the newest additions to the UMW construction projects.

Alternative Spring Break

A fulfilling way to relax

By: Anne Elder

While most students head home for spring break or go on vacations, this group of students made it their mission to make an impact on people's lives during their spring break and head to Bucknell, Florida and Albany, Georgia for a week of service and fun. Sponsored by COAR, the students helped build houses while cultivating leadership, teamwork, and organizational skills. While the experience may only last a week, students left with a new outlook on life as well as many skills developed over the week. Leaving the typical spring break trips behind, these students build together as a community, while helping rebuild communities in need.

Junior Ring Week

You Got Prank'd!

By: Michelle Esch

Every year in Mid-March, the Juniors band together and participate in the sacred Junior Ring Week traditions. Started many moons ago when UMW was still Mary Washington College, the Juniors are put through a week of pranks from the graduating Seniors. Pranks include saran wrap over private toilets, duct-taped doors, cars filled with balloons, balloons tied onto SUV roof racks, shaving cream "incidents," and many many more.

The week is not just filled with pranking, the Class Council brings a wide variety of entertainment to campus, just for the Juniors to enjoy. Starting the week with a Scavenger Hunt, the Class Council awarded prizes to the most creative and together teams. Mid-week a hypnotist was brought into GW Hall and proceeded to hypnotize over thirteen Juniors causing the crowd to fall into hysterics at their antics.

The final two days of Junior Ring Week are the most sought after: the Junior Ring Ceremony where the Juniors receive their class rings and the Junior Ring Dance, a night filled with dancing and music in the Great Hall.

Victorian Ball

A dance in the past

By: Paulina Kosturos

This past February, members of the Historic Preservation Club hosted their annual Victorian Ball. The ball gave students the exciting opportunity to dress in period clothes and listen to live music. In the Victorian era, people gathered at parties to perform traditional dances, drink, and socialize. The Historic Preservation Club desired to showcase this unique world. Students and members of the Fredericksburg community gathered in Lee Hall to learn specific Victorian dances.

Participants enjoyed eating, chatting with friends, and spending an evening lost in the nineteenth century. Around thirty-five couples and a handful of single people appeared in costume and danced the night away. Victorian Ball Chair, Jessica Stem, and many volunteers dedicated their time and effort to make this celebration a reality. While the preparations proved tedious, the ball proved a great success. No doubt Victorian era lovers are greatly anticipating next year's event!

Family Weekend

Every year, parents invade the UMW campus during Family Weekend. This past year was no exception. The weekend of September 25 through 27 hosted many scheduled events including concerts, a 5K run and Civil War walking tours. Highlighting the weekend were four talks by professors who had books published within the last year: Claudia Emerson, Bulent Atalay, William B. Crawley Jr., and Steve Watkins.

Other events included a performance by the Eagle Pipe Band which has won awards at the Virginia and Ohio Scottish Games and the Richmond Highland Games. The campus Civil War walking tours were led by the Historic Preservation Club. Also, the James Monroe Museum hosted its 20th annual Fredericksburg Welsh Festival.

214 registrants representing six different states ran in the annual 5K Run. The course traveled through the heart of the UMW campus and into the surrounding neighborhoods. Matt Gordon was the top finisher followed by twins Philip and Andrew (student) Kada. The top female finishers (all students) included Tara McFarland, Lynette Humphries, and Colleen Hopkins. In addition to the great time had by the runners lots of shoes were collected for the One World Running organization which collects shoes and sends them to Third World Countries.

Let Your Roots Show

By: Anne Elder

Elaborate costumes, lively bands and a plethora of tasty food started the day for the annual Multicultural Fair, an event which typically brings around 3,000 to 4,000 people to campus. Students and the Fredericksburg community had the opportunity to watch the Latin Dance Club and the Eagle Bhangras, along with several other entertaining acts. People also flocked to the vendors strung along Campus Walk, selling tapestries, scarves, jewelry, musical instruments, as well as much more. The James Farmer Multicultural Center and Multicultural Student Affairs sponsored the fair, collaborating with many student clubs to make this year another success. Sunshine also made a visible appearance at the fair, making the soft-serve ice cream an even better treat at one of the most popular events of the year.

Beak Week

Bringing Out the Blue, Gray and Eagle Pride

By: Anne Elder

UMW wasn't short on school spirit this April, with the SGA sponsored "Beak Week" to bring out everyone's Eagle pride. The week started with an outdoor concert and a barbecue and went on to include a drive-in movie on Ball Circle, "Drench the Bench", and a grand finale of a barbecue, fireworks, and a concert at the Rugby Fields. While rain may have dampened the plans of a bonfire, Beak Week was still seen as a success to show off school spirit for a week. There are hopes that the SGA will make this an annual event which has been described as a week similar to Homecoming but without the anticipation of a game at the end of the week. Students unified all week long to show their school spirit and dunk a classmate or two in the process.

In addition to the various spirit events, the SGA turned Beak Week into a charity event, raising money for the Charity Water organization everyday of the week. The proceeds from the donations help give clean water to people currently living with only dirty water. By doing this, the SGA showed the UMW community that not only do they care about the school, but the world as well.

Spring Formal

"Wine-ing" for More!

By: Anne Elder

Early Saturday mornings are rarely seen by most students until spring rolls around, when it becomes time to buy tickets for the Spring Formal. Every year, students anxiously wait in line in the campus center, hoping to purchase one of the coveted tickets. This year was no exception, with the tradition being held at Potomac Point Winery in Stafford County. Students gathered behind George Washington Hall to meet the bus on April 16, ready to celebrate and have fun with friends. The evening included an outdoor cocktail hour, dinner, dancing, the opportunity to take a guided tour of the winery and a wine tasting.

Students had access to a cash bar and heavy hors d'oeuvres throughout the evening and were also allowed to explore the property and walk through the vineyard themselves. Spring Formal is held annually to celebrate the end of the school year and is sponsored by Class Council. This year, 250 students were able to enjoy a night of wine, dancing and final goodbyes before the end of school, deeming the tradition a success once again.

Students Helping Honduras

By: Virginia Osella

Students Helping Honduras started off the 2009-10 year with almost 100 students at their first meeting. SHH members hosted their 3rd annual poker tournament with $1,000 in prizes in November to raise money for their winter trip. About 50 UMW students went on service trips to Honduras throughout the school year. The focus of the spring semester was to raise money for the Education and Empowerment Fund to help more than 200 kids stay and succeed in school. Club members hosted small events in preparation for the 2nd Annual Volleyball Tournament where hundreds of students, friends, and family watched and participated. The tournament consisted of 25 teams and the final two teams, the "CCM Sanctifiers" and "Can You Dig It", competed for the championship title. The champions, "Can You Dig It", received custom tournament jerseys. The UMW Chapter raised $17,400 for the Education and Empowerment Fund while the whole organization raised $116,700.

Let the Games Begin

By: Anne Elder

Every year when spring is in the air and finals loom in the near future, a tradition comes along to distract students from their worries and focus solely on two things--free T-shirts and class competition. The Goats, this year the classes of 2010 and 2012, and the Devils, the classes of 2011 and 2013, were all drawn together to Ball Circle to jump on moon bounces, climb "walls" and play a trickier, inflatable version of Twister. However, the fun wasn't only inflatable. The event, sponsored by Class Council, was also home to a live band performance and free food--a staple sure to attract any student's attention. As always, the line to get the coveted Devil-Goat Day shirt wrapped well around Ball Circle, past Virginia Hall and down the hill to Seacobeck, proving the temptation of competition and fun in the last few weeks of school.

Grad Ball

By: Michelle Esch

On Thursday May 6, UMW's Senior Week festivities were quickly winding down. The almost-graduates gathered at the Great Hall for four hours of reminiscing and dancing fun. With the grey and blue decorations, fancy dresses, sharp suits, and music pumping, the seniors danced the night away while drinking and taking numerous pictures.

The tradition of Graduation Ball started some decades ago when the school was first founded and the tradition has never stopped. Students come back early from trips to Myrtle Beach and other such locations in order to start the final hour countdown to Graduation.

With all of the side rooms open, a bartender off to the side for those of age, and food available in the Red Room, it was hard for everyone to go home in the wee morning hours. At eleven in the evening, the traditional UMW Grab Ball commemorative glasses were brought out by the Office of Student Activities and Community Service. As their final goodbye, the seniors crammed themselves in to the Great Hall and danced for a few more hours. Dean Rucker and Joe Mollo both took many pictures with students.

Turn Your Tassel Around

By: Anne Elder

As the class of 2010 proceeded down Campus Walk last May, memories from years at UMW intertwined with the ever-present blue and gray spirit, leaving the grads with nostalgia and excitement as they spent their last few moments together as a class. The graduates at the undergraduate ceremony were addressed by UMW alum Daniel R. Wolfe ('84), who is now executive vice president of Worldwide Creative Operations for Universal Pictures. The night before at the graduate ceremony, retired Senator John H. Chichester praised the graduates for completing their master's degrees and encouraging their future job searches. Overall, UMW graduated 1,201 students last spring, including 240 master's degrees. Congratulations and good luck class of 2010!

"She was such a force of nature, always so energetic. She was an incredibly vibrant person."

English Linguistics and Communication Department Chair Theresa Kennedy as reported by The Bulliet

Words alone cannot begin to express the depth, vivacity, warmth, and courage that Christina embodied. Her linguistics classes were always in high demand and there are so many reasons why. Christina had an incredible command of the course material and an engaging delivery that was full of personal anecdotes and relatable situations. Most strikingly, she was as interested in our perspectives as students as she was in those of the scholars whom we studied. Despite her impressive background, Christina was modest and always easy to talk to. She was so easy to talk to that I grew even closer to her during the semester when I studied abroad and emailed with her constantly. As a professor, Christina challenged me and transformed the lens through which I viewed people and the world, especially through her cross-cultural communications classes and lectures on visual and verbal cues. As a woman, Christina inspired me through her strength, ability to be kind but assertive, and the fullness with which she embraced life. And as a friend, Christina was a constant encourager and incredibly thoughtful. I treasure all her words of advice and wisdom in the years we kept in touch after I graduated. She was always one of the first people that I emailed when I had good news, and she would really share in my happiness with me. I have never met a woman like her, and I doubt that I ever will."

-Morgan David, WML Class of 2007

"In addition to being a talented professor, Dr. Nakano had the amazing ability to share her warmth and spirit with everyone around her, spreading her genuine kindness and zest for life."

-Ellen Ferrante, WML Class of 2001

"Christina Nakano was the first professor I had who demonstrated that May, Washington was a place of uniquely wonderful people. I remember her beaming at every student who walked into her class on the first day before she knew us. She was a meticulous and dedicated teacher who provided us with endless support. Encouraging us to conduct research and design individual studies, she was never half-hearted in her excitement for developing knowledge. She went out of her way to tell students when and how they were doing good work, and a conversation with her was magically enlightening. For four years, I have thought of her as the person who began teaching me I could think and speak as an independent adult. My thoughts and support remain with her family. I love her professionally and personally forever."

-Natalie Soyth, WML Class of 2002

Gyming It !

No Pain, No Glory

By: Paulina Kosturos

One of the many necessities on campus, the fitness center provides an excellent place to build muscle, play basketball, or just release some endorphines. Goolrick gym hosts a myriad of exercise machines, provided to assist students in building their upper, lower, and/or core body strength. Goolrick hosts various treadmills, jump ropes, and exercise balls for those students wishing to improve their cardio workouts. Aside from exercise machines, the gym maintains various dance studios, a basketball court, and a large indoor swimming pool. UMW sports teams such as swim and dive, basketball, volleyball, and the dance team utilized these spaces throughout the year. "The gym is awesome because the machines are all in the same area. I enjoy going there frequently," freshman Andrew Whitfield said. It's just as the old saying goes, "No pain, no glory," And the fitness center continues to make this possible!

Campus Construction

New and Improved

By: Anne Elder

Since the beginning of the school year, construction trucks and cranes have taken up residence on the north side of campus, leaving students wondering what new addition the administration has in store for them. Behind Goolrick Hall, hard-working construction teams have put their time and energy into the new Anderson Center, a two-story convocation center that is expected to seat 3,000 people for convocation events and 2,000 people for sporting events. Currently, the largest space available on campus is Dodd Auditorium, which seats 1,300. The center will also open new opportunities for sporting events and will offer an inclement weather alternative for scheduled events on campus.

The center will be used not only for events, but also for volleyball competitions, physical education classes, and UMW will be able to host the NCAA III basketball championships, a feat which was never possible with the Goolrick gymnasium. The Board of Visitors named Anderson Center after former president Bill Anderson, whose tenure of 23 years at UMW brought substantial growth and support to the intercollegiate varsity program at UMW. The center is expected to be open in winter 2011.

Nestled safely under the halls of Seacobeck, the Office of Student Activities and Community Services is always bustling with students and community members, looking to get a head start on activities or share enthusiasm for events on campus. As the sponsor for all clubs on campus, OSACS really is the backbone of student life at UMW, offering several concerts, comedy acts, and fundraisers each month.

This year, OSACS was highlighted with the grand opening of the renovated Underground, which allowed a venue for Bingo Nights, "Tin Chef" competitions, and Cheap Seats movie nights.

While the office may have been busy with new events at the Underground, traditions on campus were still successful, such as orientation, Homecoming, Devil-Goat Day, Club Carnival, Senior Countdown, and the Spring Formal. OSACS works hard every year to make sure every student has something fun and safe to do on the weekends, while offering awesome (and usually free!) entertainment for students everyday of the week.

Paint This Town Red

By: Anne Elder

Anyone who has ever referred to UMW as a suitcase school clearly hasn't walked out the gates to College Avenue yet. Beyond those gates and across the fence there lies a world full of bookstores, restaurants and the student favorite of coffee shops Hyperion, and that's all within a mile of campus! Even poor freshmen without cars can experience the wonder of downtown Fredericksburg, venturing to Capital Ale House with all their fellow Eagles for Monday's Dollar Burger Night, then to Carl's for a much needed sugar boost. However, past downtown any student can find the "secret spot" to swim, or the Central Park shopping center for the adventuresome with a good sense of direction. All in all, Fredericksburg has so much to offer without even crossing the city limits, though students have the ability to drive down to Richmond or up to Washington, D.C. for a day of fun.

Jobs on Campus

Working Hard for the Money

By: Paulina Kosturos

In addition to classes, clubs and other activities, many UMW students worked jobs on campus to earn some extra cash. Jobs enabled students to earn money while contributing to the campus' unique social and economic development. Many students found jobs in Dining Services, the library, and the Writing Center. "I love working at the library. My supervisors and coworkers are amazing. I don't have a car so it's very convenient to work on-campus," freshman Rebecca Poole said. In addition, other students sought opportunities working backstage events in Dodd Auditorium. "I have to say that working at Dodd is actually very fun. Meeting all the cool artists is amazing. There is a common understanding that for them to do well, they need you to work your hardest... otherwise the show fails. Basically, working at Dodd is the best job on campus! It sure beats filing paperwork in some mundane office," freshman Jeremy Thompson said. Overall, UMW jobs continue to provide excellent career opportunities in a friendly, involved environment.

Living a Life of Luxury

By: Anne Elder

When the UMW Foundation purchased the Park & Shop in December 2007, students couldn't begin to imagine the progress that would be made in the following two years. Since the acquisition of the property, "Eagle Landing", a new student apartment building, has been constructed and is ready for students to move into in fall 2010. The building will house 624 students in 156 two-bedroom apartments, each fully equipped with granite countertops, stainless steel appliances and a ceramic cooktop in the kitchen, as well as two full baths, one for each bedroom. Outside the apartments, students can venture to the rotunda, rooftop terrace, or one of the many lounges found within Eagle Landing.

However, the plans for development don't stop with the apartment building. Just next door there is a "multi-use" building, with a secure parking garage as well as shops and restaurants that are sure to become favorites for students. So far, Eagle Village is rumored to become home for a coffee shop, a Thai restaurant, a smoothie shop, a fast-Mexican restaurant, and a full service restaurant. As students anxiously await the arrival of Eagle Village, progress continues to be made over the summer, ready to welcome students back in the fall.

Renovations

By: Paulina Kosturos

This past year, Mary Washington experienced a series of dramatic building renovations with the hope of improving campus. Last fall, after months of construction, the new Lee Hall was proudly unveiled to students. The new building houses the bookstore, student services, and the Underground, to name a few of its attributes. Students especially favor The Underground as a hang-out and source of entertainment. Aside from serving food, The Underground hosted many bands and other fun activities like Bingo and Karaoke Nights throughout the year. In addition to Lee, the academic building of Monroe has recently undergone construction. Administrators plan to complete and unveil the building by 2011. Next fall, the school plans to shut down Randolph, and parts of Mason residence halls in the hopes of improving their conditions.

"I think the renovations are good because they will update the buildings. The new Lee Hall is convenient because everything is in one place. I've never been inside Monroe, but I'm sure it will look great!" freshman Lara Bellfield said.

"I haven't seen any of them before but The Underground and Lee Hall have improved. They are assets to our campus and make everything look nice," freshman Katherine Sleyman said.

From a school of small beginnings, Mary Washington's expansion and growth remains extremely significant, and a source of great pride. The school will continue to build, overall adding to the beauty and efficiency of the campus.

Improving Campus

Get Ready to Dance

By: Paulina Kosturos

This year, UMW hosted an array of talented musicians ranging from We The Kings to Talib Kweli. The various singers never failed to excite students and keep people dancing into the night hours. Giant Productions was responsible for providing the fun entertainment. Performers included Howie Day, We The Kings, Talib Kweli, Gym Class Heroes, Elby Brass, and more. A crowd favorite, Gym Class Heroes' eclectic fusion of rock and rap kept students screaming for more. Allman's BBQ catered the We The King's concert as a part of Rocktoberfest, giving students yet another reason to come out to the show. Talib Kweli graced Dodd Auditorium for UMW Homecoming, ushering in an incredible performance. UMW hosted other notable performers in the springtime as well. Howie Day, famous for his hit song, "Collide" drew a considerable crowd for his free concert in Ball Circle. The year proved a great musical success! Furthermore, UMW will continue to host many more amazing performers in the near future.

Study Abroad

"If you love your country--LEAVE!"

By: Anne Elder

Every year, almost 300 UMW students study abroad with either a semester or year-long program. Whether they leave to study language, science or history, each student returns with a renewed outlook on life and a greater comprehension of the world. Students are given the opportunity to study abroad with one of the many UMW exchange programs or any independent program of their choice. Either way, they are exposed not only to courses in culture, but also to daily life in their country abroad while living with host families or more independently in dorms or apartments. Living abroad encourages students to be immersed in a foreign culture while studying and traveling through a world they may not have had the chance to experience before. All students are encouraged to study abroad no matter what their major, with programs in Argentina, Australia, the United Kingdom, France, Spain and countless other destinations around the globe.

C.O.A.R.

Serving the Community

By: Anne Elder

Every year, C.O.A.R.(Community Outreach and Resources) takes the forefront of students wanting to serve the Fredericksburg community and beyond. This year, big events for the club included "Into da Streetz", the annual Haunted Helpers fall festival, the annual Gift Box Drive for Head Start, VA Cares Hygiene Drive, the Charity Poker Tournament, the Community Egg Hunt and Spring Forward Festival, as well as co-sponsoring the Act! Speak! Build! week, which was incorporated into Class Council's Beak Week.

In addition to all these projects, C.O.A.R. sent groups of students to help in communities nationwide, going to Albany, GA and Bunnell, FL for Alternative Spring Break and Exmore, VA for Alternative Fall Break. With all these activities on top of their regular service projects aimed at helping the community environment and reaching out to local children, elderly people, and animals. Their work inspires the student body to not only focus on academics but also the world around UMW.

Karaoke and Bingo Nights

By: Paulina Kosturos

Every Wednesday and Saturday nights, the Underground amassed a following of competitive, prize-craving, singing sensations. That's right. Bingo and Karaoke night proved extremely popular on campus, thrilling students with its array of prizes and stardom possibilities. Many devout followers of Bingo prided themselves on their competitive edge and ability to win various exciting prizes. "I love bingo. it is the highlight of my school week. It's always really intense and everyone takes it very seriously but ultimately its fun when you win. I've won a frisbee and and a DVD," freshman Katherine Sleyman said enthusiastically.

In addition to Bingo Night, Karaoke Night enabled students to show off their amazing (or lackluster) singing talents in a fun-filled environment.

"Karaoke is alot of fun. Everyone gets into it. It was fun to rap it out to Eminem with my girl, Katie! Doing karaoke is a tradition and now we go off campus to restaurants and do it!" freshman Jessica O'connell said. While many people enjoy singing in front of an audience, other maintained "stage fright".

"It sounds like fun, but I've never gone, and I would probably be too shy to go up there by myself," freshman Catherine Carbone confessed.

Aside from the prizes and competition, Bingo and Karaoke succeeded in bringing UMW students together, contributing to a close sense of community. No doubt, Bingo and Karaoke will continue to remain popular in the next semester!

Campus Hits

Having Fun Down Under

By: Anne Elder

For any student looking for fun ways to procrastinate, the re-opening of the Underground gave them much to do last year. With a cult following for Bingo nights, open mic nights, acoustic acts, and a very popular "Tin Chef" competition (complete with guest stars like Dean Rucker), homework was the least of anyone's concerns with so much fun to be had. The opening also saw a whole new food arena on campus, where students lined out the door at lunchtime to snack on some spirited sandwiches (Anyone for a Lee or Virginia this afternoon?). Smoothies, a full espresso bar, and a plethora of desserts act as perfect complements to any meal, or any entertainment act. But the fun didn't stop with pre-planned activities! Students came to the Underground to relax, hang out with friends, and rent board games while they munched on their treats. The re-opening of the Underground left many students eager to see what exciting activities might happen next year!

Washington Guides

Where you lead, I will follow

By: Anne Elder

Sponsored by the office of Admissions, the Washington Guides show potential students UMW two times a day, five days a week. The tours give high school students and parents alike the chance to ask questions, see dorm rooms and watch classes in session before they make their final decision. The guides are seen braving the cold weather and rain to show off the campus they love. They also help Admissions with events throughout the year, such as Showcase Days, Destination Days, and the all-time campus favorite, Discovery Days. This April, the Office of Admissions hosted the largest Discovery Day ever--with more than 450 students and 1300 overall guests. Regardless of the group size, guides moved all guests about in a graceful manner to show the newly-renovated Lee Hall as well as the construction for the Anderson Center and Eagle Village. While they may not get paid, the Washington Guides spread their love of Mary Washington on every tour they give, guaranteeing more fresh faces at UMW every year.

The UMW Women's Cross Country team ended their season by running at the NCAA Division III Regionals. The team came in 11th place overall. In the CAC Championship, the team got 2nd place.

Junior, Sarah Dawes, was awarded the CAC Runner of the Year award after finishing first at the CAC Championship race. Witek, Sands, Cate, Rainbolt, and Pfeiffer were all rewarded honors on the All-CAC team and finished in the top 20 in the CAC Championship.

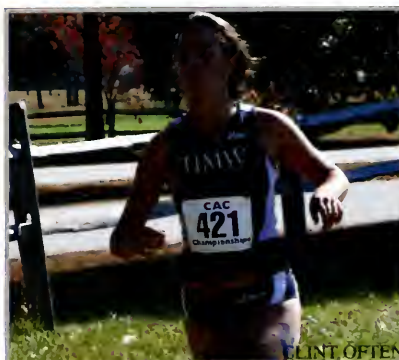

Overall the girls did a great job. Congratulations Eagles!

"Spotlight"

Hayley Sullivan

Sophomore Hayley Sullivan led the way of the Women's Cross Country team to the CAC Regionals. Sullivan, a five-time CAC Runner of the Week this season, has been UMW's top finished in every race in which she has competed in. At the George Mason Invitational, Hayley was the first Division III runner to cross the finish line. Great Job Hayley!

By: Eve Patterson and Ashlee Sisson

Racing across the finish line, the UMW Men's Cross Country team ended their season by running in the Cross Country Championships and NCAA Division III Regionals. The team came in 4th overall. The team also captured the CAC Championship and saw five runners finish in the top nine.

Coach Soper was named 2009 CAC Coach of the Year and DeVar was named CAC Runner of the Year. Overall, the men's team did outstanding, and with many new faces on the team, we will continue to see victories in the upcoming years for the Eagles.

"Spotlight" Frank DeVar

Frank DeVar, UMW senior, gained All-American honors by placing 16th overall at the 2009 NCAA Division III National Championships. DeVar became the first Eagle Men's Cross Country All-American since UMW Hall of Famer Jon Gates in 1996.

DeVar also finished second overall in the 8K meet at the Southeast Regional Championships. Earlier in the season he lead the Eagles to a tie for third place at the Carnegie Mellon Invitational. He was also the first collegiate runner across the finish line. great job DeVar! Keep up the good work!

Women's Soccer

Work Hard, Play Harder

By: Eve Patterson and Ashlee Sisson

The Women's Soccer team had another successful season, ending with a 12-5-5 overall record and a 4-2-2 CAC record. The team won the CAC title and went on to play in the NCAA division 3 Tournament for the first time since 2004. There, they lost 3-2 to Maryville College from Tennessee. The girls tied 1-1 to York College in the rainy Homecoming game, yet they went on to defeat Hood 5-1 in the season finale.

The team had 6 players named to the 2009 All-CAC team and Coach Hewson was named Co-Coach of the Year. The 6 players were Olson, Tryon, Strat, Denkler, Brehm, and Eyler. Congratulations girls!

"Spotlight"

Amy Olson

Sophomore forward Amy Olson, a second team pick in 2008, is the only Mary Washington player with previous All-CAC recognition. Olson was also named CAC Women's Soccer Player of the Week the week of September 21st after scoring five goals and adding two assists in three UMW victories. She started the week off with a goal and an assist in a 3-1 victory over rival Christopher Newport. In UMW's first CAC clash of the season, Olson scored her first career hat trick in a win over Wesley. She finished the week with a goal and an assist in a 2-0 non-conference win over Averett. Great Job Amy!

By: Eve Patterson and Ashlee Sisson

The Men's Soccer team finished this year's season with an impressive 12-7-1 overall record and a 6-1-1 CAC record, taking them all the way to the CAC Semifinals against York. Unfortunately, they were defeated 4-1 at the semifinal game, however, that didn't stop them from being recognized by the CAC.

Five players were named to all-CAC teams and Coach Gordon was named Co-Coach of the Year. Toohey, Rutkowski, Gallop, Tutor, and Mensah-Abrampah the five that were named to all-CAC. Congratulations guys!!!

"Spotlight"

Duke Mensah-Abrampah

Freshman, Duke Mensah-Abrampah, had a great first season playing for the Eagles. At the CAC Tournament Duke scored a pair of goals to lead the men's soccer team to a 2-1 overtime win over Marymount. He was also named Co-Player of the week on November 2nd. At the beginning of the season Duke scored the game's only goal against Stevenson University to take the win of 1-0.

Duke ended the season with 15 points and the second highest shooting percentage on the team. As a freshman, this is a huge accomplishment. Congratulations Duke! Can't wait to see what he brings to the field next year for the Eagles.

The Volleyball team made impressive strides this year to land themselves at the CAC Semifinals against Gallaudet University. The team finished this year's season with an overall record of 18-11 and a CAC record of 7-1.

Two players, Anne Lutkenhaus and Laura Gomez, were awarded CAC honors. Also, Coach Dee Conway was named CAC Coach of the Year.

The team was comprised of nine underclassmen, meaning the team will continue to bring victory to the Eagles for a few more years to come.

"Spotlight"

Anne Lutkenhaus

Senior outside hitter, Anne Lutkenhaus, propelled the team to many wins including the win over Marymouth University in the final regular season home match of the season. Anne, the only player in school history with 1,000 career kills and 1,000 career digs, posted 23 kills at this game.

Lutkenhaus was named the CAC Player of the Week on October 5th after leading the Eagles to three victories that week alone. She contributed 13 kills and 16 digs in a victory over York, then followed with 19 kills and 15 digs against Gallaudet. Overall, she led the team in kills, hitting percentage, and was second in digs. Great Job Anne!

The men's and women's rugby teams respectively had yet another impressive season, with both teams exciting students and bringing in the Eagle pride with their annual Homecoming games.

In November, the lady ruggers were ranked 19 by RugbyMag.com Division II College Rugby. The Mother's Rugby men's team hosted their annual alumni game and for the first time this fall competed in both Division II and Division III, fielding 3 full sides every weekend. Way to go teams!

Field Hockey

Get to the Striking Circle

By: Eve Patterson and Ashlee Sisson

Making it all the way to the CAC Championship game, the field hockey team had an impressive season. The Eagles took on Salisbury in the championship game and barely lost with a score of 2-1. The team finished with an impressive 12-8-0 overall record and a 4-2-0 CAC record.

Emma Jones, Heidi Sheehan, Jaci Marshall, Nicole Conti, and Florence George were all recognized as being on the CAC teams.

Congratulations girls!

"Spotlight"

Emma Jones

Junior forward, Emma Jones, scored a goal and added an assist to lead the University of Mary Washington field hockey team to a 2-1 victory over York College in the CAC semifinals. Jones was named to the 2009 All-South Region Team, as selected by Longstreth and the National Field Hockey Coaches Association as well as the All-CAC team. Throughout the season Jones led the field hockey team to win after win.

Jones led the Eagles in scoring with 15 goals and seven assists in 20 games for the Eagles. We look forward to seeing Jones back on the field leading the Eagles next year. Congrats!

After a 71-48 win against St. Mary's College, the UMW women's basketball team tied with Marymount University in the CAC regular season standings. At the CAC Championship, the #24 ranked UMW team fell to #7 Marymount with a final score of 50-48.

The Eagles ended their season with a 21-5 record. They went on to compete in the NCAA Division III tournament, where they reached the second round before falling to the University of Rochester with a final score of 61-54. Way to go girls!

"Spotlight"

Jenna McRae

Sophomore guard Jenna McRae has proved herself as an all-star player once again, assisting in many wins this season. McRae scored a team-high of 17 points for the UMW team in the game against York College, which led to a 63-51 win for the Eagles. McRae and teammate Katie Wimmer were named to the All-Capital Athletic Conference team at the conclusion of the season and will be the only underclassmen on the squads.

"Spotlight" Courtney Goimarac

"Mary Washington junior Courtney Goimarac continues a long and impressive list of Eagles that were selected by the conference coaches as the CAC Women's Tennis Player of the Year when she won the award and earned first team singles and doubles recognition to lead the 2010 All-CAC Women's Tennis Team. Goimarac, now a three-time first-team All-CAC selection in both singles and doubles, brings the Player of the Year trophy back to Fredericksburg, Va., for the seventh-straight year and the 18th-time in the 21-year history of CAC women's tennis. She is the 14th different Eagle to win the award and the sixth UMW player to win the Rookie of the Year (2008) and Player of the Year awards during their careers." --UMW Athletics

The women's softball team ended their season with an 9-26-1 overall record and 6-6 in league play. The Eagles advanced to the CAC Tournament, where they won against Hood 6-2 in the first round and fell to York and Stevenson.

The girls saw four players named to the All-CAC team, including sophomore third baseman Elizabeth Crowe, senior utility player Kim Olinger on the first team and sophomore outfielder Amanda Adams and senior shortstop Kaitlin Petrella were named to the second team. Great job girls!

"Spotlight"

Elizabeth Crowe

Sophomore Elizabeth Crowe has certainly made a name for herself on the field at UMW. She was named to the 2010 National Fastpitch Coaches' Association's all-region team in May 2010, after being named to the All-CAC team as well. During the season, Crowe hit a seventh-inning grand slam against Hood, leading to a 6-2 victory for the Eagles. Crowe has led the team in hitting (.412), home runs (8), RBI (33), runs scored (24), and bases on balls (16), according to UMW Athletics. She has been predicted by Coach Conway to become the top pitcher for the Eagles. Good job Elizabeth!

What other club at UMW maintains such poise, such grace? Nothing else compares the UMW Terrapins team! The Terrapins team utilizes synchronized swimming to create breathtaking performances. The Terrapins team competed against other University club and Varsity teams throughout the year. Their season began in September, culminating with Nationals in March. While the Terrapins team believes in performing to the best of their abilities, the club's competitive spirit fails to outweigh their desire to have fun. The Terrapins will continue to stand by this belief for years to come.

All of the other sports teams would be nothing if it weren't for this group of spirited Eagles. Whether they win or lose, the cheerleaders were always there to support our teams, bringing spirit not only to the team but also to the crowd.

This year the team captains were Jenny Eikenberg, class of 2010, and Lindsay Mollohan, class of 2008. While it may be considered a club sport at UMW, the cheerleaders provide valuable support for our teams, while practicing long hours and developing new techniques to bring Eagle pride to our stands.

The captains for this year's team were Jenny Eikenberg ('10) and Lindsay Mollohan ('08).

I'm very grateful that I never wasted any time trying to become somebody else's image of what I should be.

I work in a business where almost everyone is waiting for the next big thing. Sometimes it comes, and sometimes it doesn't. But it doesn't matter that your dream came true if you spent your whole life sleeping. So get out there and go for it, but don't be caught waiting. It's great to plan for your future. Just don't live there, because really nothing ever happens in the future. Whatever happens happens now, so live your life where the action is — now.

Mrs. Zubatsky's law. One day when I was a kid, our house caught on fire in Milwaukee. A large section of the wood shingle roof was burning as the fire trucks pulled up. The firemen ran into the back yard with a large hose and began assembling their metal ladders and positioning them against the house. Mrs. Zubatsky was our next door neighbor and, at the time, she was standing on her upstairs porch taking in the laundry. She watched anxiously as the firemen struggled with their ladders. Suddenly she leaned over the balcony and shouted down to the professional firefighters, "Forget the ladders! Just point the hose at the fire!" The firemen, to their credit, responded immediately. They dropped their ladders, pointed the hose at the fire and extinguished the blaze in about 40 seconds.

There are two morals to this story. One, never assume that just because it's someone's job, they know how to do it. And two, don't let yourself be intimidated by professionals or their uniforms.

If you have a better idea, if your plan makes more sense, if you have a vision, then put down your laundry and scream a little bit. Throw your hat into the ring and never let professionals or their uniforms prevent you from telling anyone where to point their hose.

If you're going to fail, fail big. If you don't, you're never going to make a difference. Creativity is allowing yourself to make mistakes. Art is knowing which ones to keep. Ask yourself one question: If I didn't have to do it perfectly, what would I try? For many of you, the biggest obstacle to getting there will be a fear that you have carried with you since childhood — the fear of humiliation, of embarrassment, of ridicule. That is SO stupid!

Oh - sorry. But really, you have to stop caring about that, which brings me to Travolta's law.

My brother David and Jim Abrahams and I were having pie at Rumpelmeyer's Coffee Shop in New York on the day after our third movie, "Top Secret," opened. The reviews were terrible and it was bombing at the box office. We were really getting into some serious nipping and self-flagellation when John Travolta walked in. We knew him from the Paramount lot and he could see right away that we were in a funk. We immediately poured out our heart to him, explaining the pain of our humiliating misfortune.

I'm not sure what we were expecting, but John just smiled and said, "Guys, the thing you have to remember is (that) nobody else is paying as much attention to your failures as you are. You're the only ones who are obsessed with the importance of your own life. To everyone else, it's just a blip on the radar screen, so just move on."

Think of the world as a big glass of water with some salt in it. You have a choice. You can try to pick out all the salt or you can keep pouring in more water so eventually it gets less bitter. As you begin your new journey, you can try to remove everything that you find distasteful in the world, or you can just pour in more love. It's the only thing that the more you give away, the more you have."

I'm leaving now
To slay the foe
Fight my battles
High and low

I'm leaving parents
Hear me go
Please wish me luck today

I've grown my wings, I want Seize my victories where
I'm going guys, but please
Just let me find my way

Carve my niche, sew my seams
Remember as I sail my seas,
I'll love you all the way

Mariana Ferro

Always believe.

We are very proud of you.

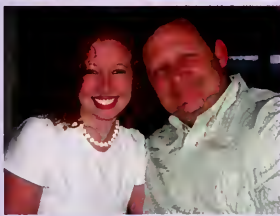

Congratulations, Mom, Dad, and Filipe.

Michelle Esch

My Dearest Michelle,

You brought joy and sunshine into your Mom and my lives with your birth. Toddling times were an adventure not to be missed and watching you grow through high school and now college into a beautiful, confident and secure young woman has been a pure joy.

You endured a terrible loss three year ago. Yet your great smile continues to be your light to the world and will always leave a lasting and positive impression on myself and our family.

If I could give you anything as you graduate, I would give you a candle that burns as brightly as the light within you, the light you are.... I would tell you to keep it burning, no matter what. Don't let your light flicker and fade because of everyday challenges and concerns. The world needs your light. Hold your candle high!

As your Mom once said before, "enjoy your wings but please always remember where you found your roots as well."

I am so very proud of you!

With love from Dad and Joe - I know your Mom is so proud of you right now!

Kathleen Watson

Congratulations Katie ---
You've come a long way baby!!

We're so proud of you...XOXO,

As you begin the next chapter of your life, we know you will continue to dream with all the passion and love you have shown in all of your endeavors. We could not be more proud of the outstanding woman you have become.

We love you!

Kelly Key

Kelly, your Mom and I could not be prouder of you for your accomplishments at the U. of Mary Washington. You have grown and matured and you are on your way to realizing your full potential. Academically just stellar (Phi Beta Kappa), your highly active involvement in the community (Catholic Campus Ministries) and your involvement in extra curricular activities such as performing arts at UMW (and many other clubs, etc) show you as someone well rounded. Always keep close the friendships, relationships and experiences you have gained at the U of Mary Washington. This is the time to celebrate. All your hard work has paid off with a lasting academic achievement. Your whole family is PROUD! Mom, Dad, Grandma, Uncle Donald, Grandpa and Nana G and all the rest of the family. With love to remember this day! (note picture is a fun moment at Fenway catching a foul

To my girl and best friend,

Congratulations on making it out alive! I cannot believe that four years has gone by so fast with you. Thank you for everything you have done for me and I am so thankful that I can call you my best friend. Even though school is over, our paths will definitely still cross for years to come. Good luck in everything you do, keep your head up and always look towards the light side of things.

Love forever,
Michelle

Congrats everyone! We're out!!

Four years has come and gone and while some of us remain close, others have drifted. Nothing will compare to our time spent at UMW, but it was a pleasure knowing all of you, and I hope we will see each other again in the future.

Good luck with your lives.

*When We Were Friends
by J.E. Sweatengin, Adam Fecht*

SO MANY NIGHTS, I'VE LIED AWAKE
THINKING OF THE TIME IT TAKES TO GROW UP

LISTENING TO EVERYTHING OUR PARENTS SAY
THEY KNOW WILL BRING US FORTUNES

I KNOW I'VE WAITED FOR THIS FOREVER I KNOW IT
BUT NOW IT'S HERE AND I AM SCARED TO GO OUT ON MY OWN

AND I PRAY THAT YOU WILL BE
WITH ME FOREVER AND EVER RIGHT HERE BY MY SIDE
HOLDING ME CLOSER AND CLOSER
AND IF WE SEPARATE PLEASE DON'T FORGET THE DAYS
WHEN WE WERE FRIENDS WHEN WE WERE FRIENDS

TIME FLIES BY SO FAST YOU NOTICE YOU FORGET
THE MOST IMPORTANT THINGS IN LIFE

WE MAKE MISTAKES THROUGHOUT OUR TIME
WE FORGIVE THOSE WHO CAUSE US STRIFE AND HARM US

I'M HERE AND NOW I'M WISHING WE WERE LITTLE KIDS AGAIN
AND WE COULD BE AS CAREFREE AS WHEN WE FIRST MET

AND I PRAY THAT YOU WILL BE
WITH ME FOREVER AND EVER RIGHT HERE BY MY SIDE
HOLDING ME CLOSER AND CLOSER
AND IF WE SEPARATE PLEASE DON'T FORGET THE DAYS
WHEN WE WERE FRIENDS WHEN WE WERE FRIENDS
HERE WE STAND WITH OUR FUTURE IN OUR HANDS
WE'LL DECIDE OUR FATE AND MAKE OUR PLANS

IT'S NOT GOODBYE BUT SEE YOU LATER
LOOK FORWARD TO AND PLEASE WAIT TO MEET AGAIN

THE MEMORIES WE'VE MADE WILL BE IN MY HEART DON'T FORGET ME
I'LL MISS YOU

I'VE LEARNED SO MUCH BEING WITH YOU
I HOPE YOU FEEL THE SAME WAY TOO

THOUGH TIME WILL PASS OUR LOVE WILL LAST A LIFETIME THROUGH AND THROUGH

AND I PRAY THAT YOU WILL BE
WITH ME FOREVER AND EVER RIGHT HERE BY MY SIDE
HOLDING ME CLOSER AND CLOSER
AND IF WE SEPARATE PLEASE DON'T FORGET THE DAYS
WHEN WE WERE FRIENDS WHEN WE WERE FRIENDS

A few words from the Editors...

I just wanted to say thank you to everyone who contributed to this book. After graduating in December, I thought I would be done with the Battlefield by now, but of course, as I am writing this in April, I am still working hard on giving you, UMW, the best yearbook possible.

Anne: Words cannot explain how much I appreciate you. You came in and took the reigns last year and then accepted my offer as co-EIC/EIC and I could not have been more grateful. You are amazingly talented and I am so glad that you become part of the team. Doing this is not easy, but you take everything in stride and it most definitely shows. Thank you for the late nights, covering for my absences, and communicating with the staff. I am so happy to know that the Battlefield is being left in your capable hands and you are a terrific asset for this school.

Kelly Caldwell: We would have been at a great loss for the past three years without your terrific pictures to cover our pages. Thank you so much for letting us paw through your Facebook albums in the hopes of finding just the right picture for an event. Congratulations on graduating!

Joe Mollo & Brian Flamm: Thank you so much gentlemen for giving great advice to the staff and for keeping me from pulling my hair out. Joe, thank you for all of the pictures this year!

And, last but certainly not least and never forgotten, the Battlefield staff: Without you all, well, this book would not be here. Thank you all so much for working where needed and never complaining whether you worked the entire year, or just helped when you could. Every little bit counts and it certainly shows. Thank you and good luck in your futures.

Four years working on the Battlefield both and then EIC for the past three years, have gone by quickly. I cannot say I will miss the long stressful days and nights before a deadline, but I will miss seeing the smiling happy faces in the pictures and meeting such wonderful and diverse people. Good luck everyone!

Much love,

Michelle Esch

Editor In Chief Battlefield Yearbook 2007-2010

THANK YOU!

This book has been so much more than just a staff going to events on campus. I have enlisted the help of many friends and club leaders, all of whom have been more than gracious to share their pictures and information with me, for which I am extremely grateful! However, none of this would have been possible without our awesome staff, thank you all so much for your hard work!

For all of you reading this in the fall, please keep in mind that this is not our book--it really is yours. We want to show you, your peers and future grandchildren what an awesome time you had at UMW, reminding you of your alma mater when your days of walking down Campus Walk seem like an eternity away. Please do not hesitate to give us your feedback and pictures, we really appreciate it! If there is important to you, we want to cover it. This book would be meaningless if it weren't for you, so live on UMW (and let us document it!).

Michelle: No one else I know can evenathom completing and submitting nearly 60 spreads in two days, which I've seen you do on several occasions. Your passion is truly amazing! I know your love for yearbook will carry with you forever and I can't wait to see what you are able to accomplish. Congratulations on your wedding(!) next year, I know you will be a beautiful bride and I wish you the best of happiness with Matt.

Paulina: I'm so excited you've agreed to be co-EIC with me next year, you've already shown your excitement and passion for the book which makes me happier than you can ever imagine. You've been such a big help this year on tight deadlines, I don't know what we would've done without you and I can't wait to see what we come up with next year!

Joe Mollo: Thank you for always being there for us no matter what we may have messed up on, no matter how many pictures we were trying to steal from you. Your guidance continues to be a driving force for this book, we really couldn't do it without you!

Best wishes,

Anne Elder

Co-Editor In Chief Battlefield Yearbook 2009-????

Once an Eagle...

A photograph of a brick building at night. A sign on the left side of the building is partially visible, showing the words "OF" and "INGTON". The building is illuminated by warm, reddish-orange light. In the bottom left corner, there are some colorful, out-of-focus lights, possibly from a display or decoration. The overall scene is dark, with the building and lights providing the main sources of illumination.

Theme: The Theme of "Eagle Spirit" was chosen for the ninety-seventh volume of The Battlefield Yearbook by co-Editors in Chief Michelle Esch and Anne Elder after OSACS motto for the year, "Once an Eagle, Always an Eagle." In order to carry the theme throughout the book, an eagle of some sort was placed on every page: the small eagle flying by the page numbers, eagle heads in Sports, and an eagle flying on the Clubs pages. The school colors of blue and grey with white accents was also used for the theme, such as on the Student Life pages and the People pages. Publishing: The Battlefield was published by Walsworth Publishing Company, 306 N. Kansas Ave., Marceline, MO 64658. Mindy Sayre was our Customer Service Representative while Brian Flamm was our Yearbook Representative. The press run was 1,200 copies, each with 320 full-color pages printed with RGB and Greyscale process. Cover: The cover photograph was designed by co-Editors in Chief Michelle Esch and Anne Elder. The photograph used was taken by Matthew Brooks specifically for the cover. Hardware and Software: The book was produced using the Walsworth Yearbooks Online Design program by six staff members using their personal computers. Adobe Photoshop was used in order to crop and edit photos. Advertisements: Senior Ads were sold to parents at the prices of $35 for an eighth of a page, $64 for a quarter page, $125 for a half page and $250 for a full page. Parents received notifications of ad sales through the mail. Ads were designed according to parents' specifications or at the discretion of co-Editor in Chief Michelle Esch. Typography: "Kent" was used for Contents/Dividers/Page Numbers, "Alice" was used for Student Life, "Jasper" was used for Through the Year, "Keifer" for Clubs, "Chelsea" for Sports, "Daisy" for Seniors, "Herman" for Yearbook Staff Pages, and "Handwriting" for the names of seniors on the Parents' Ads pages. Photography: Underclassmen photos were provided by the University ID Center and were cropped and placed by co-Editor in Chief Michelle Esch. Faculty photos were also cropped and placed by Esch and were provided by the Office of News and Public Information. Senior Portraits were taken by appointment with Candid Color Photography, 11010 Bacon Race Rd. Woodbridge, VA 22192. Seniors were notified of available dates through the mail, email announcements, and fliers placed around campus. The photos were then cropped and placed by co-Editor in Chief Anne Elder. Sports photographs were taken by Clint Often. Writing and design: All body copy and headlines were written by staff members. Dividers and section layouts were designed by Esch and Elder. The title page, opening and closing, as well as the celaphon, were designed by co-Editor in Chief Michelle Esch. Distribution: The 2010 Battlefield was distributed in the Fall 2010. Books were also mailed to Seniors' permanent addresses that were on file with the Administration. Funding for the yearbook was provided by the OSACS Finance Committee and revenue earned from Senior Ads. Contact: The Battlefield office is located in Seacobeck Hall, room 107, 1301 College Ave, Fredericksburg, VA 22401 or available at battlefieldybk@gmail.com. No portion of the yearbook may be reprinted or reproduced in any way without the express written consent of the co-Editors in Chief.
